New security, safety rules at River Fest

Steps to strengthen safety and security at the Mississippi River Festival, including the prohibition of cans and glass containers, were announced Friday by Lyle Ward, managing director of the festival. Ward said these steps are consistent with the policies of major arenas and stadiums which deal with large audiences.

The announcement followed an earlier statement on Thursday by Acting President Andrew J. Kochman of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, that while recent acts of violence at River Festival rock concerts have caused concern about future concerts, the possibility of cancelling remaining rock concerts this season "is not being actively considered."

Kochman's statement came in the wake of an erroneous news wire service story Thursday that all remaining rock concerts at the festival had been cancelled. That wire story was carried on many radio stations Thursday prior to the denouncement.

Kochman said cancellation of remaining "hard rock concerts" remains as an alternative, should there be future incidents of violence.

During the Doobie Brothers concert last week, University police and Madison County sheriff's deputies dealt with several disturbances.

University officers Charles Heinz and James Hasse received minor injuries while attempting to make arrests in crowds and alcoholic beverages were confiscated from more than 20 juveniles at the concert.

Ward also announced that the Yes concert, scheduled Aug. 11, has been cancelled at the MRF and will be held instead at Kiel Auditorium in St. Louis. He said the group cancelled because the MRF cannot comply with supplementary technical requirements recently demanded by the group.

Ward said the prohibition of cans and glass containers will become effective with the Tuesday night (July 27) concert.

Four hurt in accident at hospital door

Four people were injured in a three-vehicle crash at Madison and Niedringhaus avenues in front of St. Elizabeth Hospital at 10:20 p.m. Friday.

The drivers were Eric Mooshegan, 29, of 1811 Sixth St., Madison, Howard Dougherty, 22, of 208 Briarwood Drive, and James Howell, 21, of 215 Washington Ave.

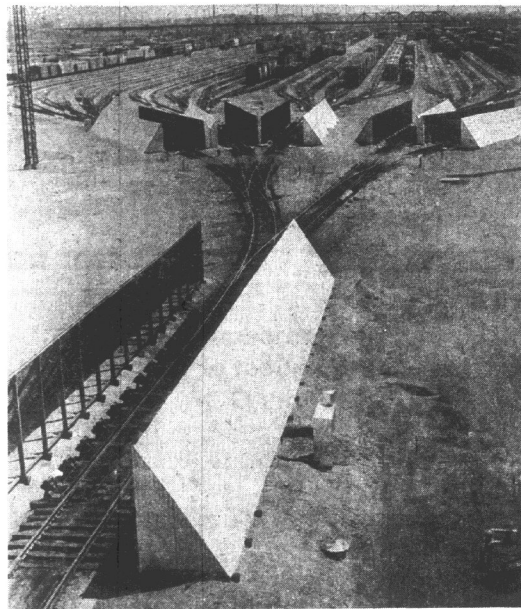

Howell was charged with reckless driving and with driving while his license was suspended. Police alleged the Mooshegan car was northbound on Madison Avenue when Howell's auto struck its rear, pushing it into the oncoming lane where it and Dougherty's van collided.

After the initial impact, Howell's auto continued into a light pole. All three drivers and Cathy Yarbrough, 18, of the 2200 block of Washington Avenue, a passenger in Howell's auto, went to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment.

Howell was transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, with a large cut across the top of his face, and with possible internal head injuries.

Cathy Yarbrough was admitted to the hospital here with injuries to her abdomen and head.

Mooshegan was released after examination with only minor injuries and Dougherty suffered pain to his chest and was released after treatment.

GC man pronounced dead after crash

James F. Todd, 55, of 2812 Delmar Ave., a metallurgist at Granite City Steel, was pronounced dead after his car left Route 157 at Center Grove Road south of Edwardsville and struck a tree at 6:20 p.m. Friday.

The accident occurred just south of the Terminal Railroad overpass on Route 157 south of the eastern entrance to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Authorities said Mr. Todd may have suffered a sudden heart ailment moments before the accident.

Mr. Todd was pronounced dead at the scene by Madison County Deputy Coroner Cleve Mateer of Edwardsville at 6:50 p.m. Friday.

Mr. Todd was a supervisor in the metallurgy department at Granite City Steel 30 years and was a member of the American Society of Iron and Steel Engineers.

He also held memberships in the Sunset Hills County Club, VFW Post 1300 and First Presbyterian Church of Granite City. He also was a former officer and director of the Granite City Steel Management Club.

He was born in Davenport, Iowa, but resided in this area nearly all of his life.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Evelyn Todd, seven daughters, Mrs. Gaines (Linda) Pickett of Detroit, Mrs. Paul (Karen) Costello of Granite City, Mrs. Kenneth (Jamie) Kratz of Charlottesville, Va., Mrs. Roger (Lisa) Hamilton of St. Louis, Mrs. Dale (Jean) Miner of Granite City and Miss Mari Todd of Granite City; two sons, John LaPeire of Granite City and Chris LaPeire at home; his mother, Mrs. Vera Schilling of Granite City, and six grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements may be found in today's obituary column.

Highways—a story of growth

(60th of a Bicentennial year Press-Record series)

Between 1950 and 1973, the year that ended in the "energy crisis," the number of cars and trucks in Illinois increased nearly five times as rapidly as did the population—142 per cent to 28 per cent.

Registered vehicles expanded in number twice as fast as the number of licensed drivers, the latter increasing from 4,000,000 to 5,100,000.

In 1950 there were approximately two vehicles for each three drivers in the state, but by 1973 drivers and vehicles were equal in number.

Perhaps the most interesting statistic is that fuel consumption for motor vehicles in the period from 1950 to 1973 increased more than two and a half times, from 2,944 million gallons to 5,132 million gallons.

In 1950 Illinois already had more miles of highway than any other state; the chief effort of the following years was to improve what was available.

To finance the effort, the Illinois Division of Highways drastically increased truck road fees in 1951 and 1953, so that the state ranked second highest in its fee for a five-axle truck.

Maintaining that heavy trucks were ruining the roads the division raised road taxes of the heaviest category, trucks with weights of from $9,000 to 72,000 pounds, from $425 to $1,593 annually.

In addition, new types of roadways were planned.

The Eisenhower Expressway constructed in Chicago during World War II became the model for the General Assembly, which created the Illinois State Toll Highway System in 1953 to

EPA approval due soon for sewer bidding

Assurances that the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency will give the "green light" to proceed on seeking bids for sewers in Nameoki and Chouteau townships were given to local officials during a meeting at the EPA offices in Springfield Thursday afternoon.

Walter "Dick" Sparks, chairman of the Madison County special sewer committee which is planning the new sanitary sewers, said he and Ed Juneau, engineer of the local sewer projects, were told by EPA officials that they are reviewing the project and should be sending formal approval within the next week to proceed with releasing specifications to contractors for bidding.

The action is expected to be limited to the major portion of the project called Area One which would provide sanitary sewers from the Stallings area north through Ponton Beach, west through Mitchell and the empty into the Granite City treatment facilities on the Granite City Army Installation property.

There also were preliminary indications that a means must be found to finance the local share of the construction in Area Two (State Park Place) and Area Three (Eagle Park-Cloverleaf-East Madison) by Sept. 1, or the offer of a grant to pay about three-fourths of the construction cost will be withdrawn.

Sparks noted the indications on Areas Two and Three were not final orders and will be reviewed carefully by the EPA before a written order concerning the future of sewers in these areas will be issued.

Juneau said as soon as the letter of approval for Area One is received, his office will begin releasing specifications to bidders on the project, which has been broken into several segments to speed construction.

He said there already have been active inquiries from contractors about the project and about five major construction companies from all over the United States already have contacted him in regards to the project.

He hopes to allow the contractors at least 45 to 60 days to study the specifications and prepare bids, opening them on or before Oct. 1.

Power rate hike filed

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer

Residential electrical rates in the Quad-Cities could increase about $6 per month at each home in peak summer periods if the Illinois Commerce Commission accepts an entire new rate structure requested by Illinois Power Co.

At a news conference Friday, Illinois Power Company executive Vice-president C. W. Wells announced the company had that day filed a new rate request "that will completely revise our rate concepts."

Wells said the proposed rates would discourage the use of electricity during peak periods, both by residential users and by industries.

Previous attempts to discourage heavy electric use in homes during peak periods have not been very successful, although the same attempts in industry have met with moderate success.

On the average, the rates will average 14.7 per cent for all retail classes of service, but could be as high as 20 per cent more for the homeowner with an air conditioner who uses more than 450 kilowatts of electricity per month during the hottest summer months.

One reporter, whose electric bill was $30.74 in June for 964 kilowatts, asked that the rate would be if the Commerce Commission approves the new rate schedule unchanged and was told the bill for the same amount of electricity would be $36.72, a $5.98 increase.

"It's time we stopped making Aunt Millie who owns a small home and does not have an air conditioner pay the bill for your air conditioner," Wells commented.

"After months of intensive research studies, we feel we have come up with a rate structure which more accurately reflects our cost of providing service to you, which encourages a more efficient use of our system capacity and which provides the additional revenue the company must

Problems for Rubber Duck

Good old "Rubber Duck" may have to put out a call for "Philadelphia Lawyer" if he wants to know the insurance status on his cherished CB (citizen band) radio equipment under new Illinois rulings.

The Illinois Department of Insurance has changed its policy, which had held that CB units mounted in cars were auto equipment and hence were covered by owners' auto insurance policies.

Faced with a vast number of thefts of the radios, some insurance firms began rejecting claims on stolen CB's. But when policyholders protested to the department, the companies were told they could not exclude the radios and were ordered to pay up.

Now, if a person buys a new car and also a CB radio as standard or optional equipment from the auto manufacturer and has it installed in an opening in the dashboard just for that purpose, it is covered by his auto insurance policy.

If he already has a car and a unit which was not available from his car's manufacturer and which is mounted under the dash, it will be covered until his insurance firm notifies him it is redrafting its coverage and rewriting its policy to specifically exclude such equipment.

Some companies also are offering "buy back" arrangements, under which they exclude the CB unit from the standard auto insurance but for an additional fee will provide specific separate coverage for the unit. But not all are doing this.

The insurers' reluctance is viewed as understandable, since one published report has said that seven out of every 10 CB units are stolen, and they have an average life of 28 days in the hands of the original owner.

Meanwhile, "Rubber Duck" and "Blue Jeans" are spending less time chattering about the Bear in the air, and instead are spreading the word that "the CB inside gets no more free ride."

Foster parents a vital need

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

Quad-City area families are being asked to take part in a program whereby young people between the ages of 11 and 16 are placed in foster homes.

Sponsoring the program is the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, Southwestern Region, a United Way agency, in cooperation with the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.

Persons willing to provide a foster home for one or more children are asked to contact the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, 1002 College Ave., Alton, Ill. 62002, or call 1-462-2714 collect.

A foster parent is paid a total of $230 per month board for each child, plus clothing money and medical care.

Right now the society is seeking foster families who can take two to five teens. Living in a small group is welcomed by the teens and works well for foster parents too, Mrs. Mary T. Yowell, regional director, explained.

The private child welfare agency is committed to investing the time, professional skills, therapy and special schooling needs to help teens progress, she said. Agency personnel work closely with the foster parents.

Children assigned to foster home through this specific program are those who have come under the care of the society or state children's agency and are placed in temporary homes waiting for some type of permanent planning for their future.

"Entirely too many young people 11 to 16 are marking time in temporary places and in-situations where they have no roots, don't belong and keep wondering when and where foster families will be found for them," Mrs. Yowell said.

"It's like a brick wall, there just aren't enough doors open to teens these days," she commented.

The children waiting to be placed are boys and girls without parents or relatives able to support and guide them. Some of them are good in school or at sports, music or art. Many are not quite sure just what they can do ... yet!

"Not all the children are delinquents," the director said. "Many of these teens have wished so long and so hard to become a member of a family that they may be pretty mixed-up, up-tight and scared. They want to do well, but they need a lot of help."

"They need a foster parent who is not afraid of a program such as this, who sees it as a challenge and also sees the potential in a kid," Mrs. Yowell said.

"One can get real satisfaction from helping a youngster get his feet on the ground and achieve independence," she stressed.

"After the initial contact with the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, an interview with prospective foster parents will be arranged at Coordinating Youth Services office in Granite City, where space has been provided by the local youth agency."

Teens are not for everyone, Mrs. Yowell said. It takes people who like teens; people who like a challenge; people who believe they can team up with the society and help a teen.

"If this describes you, please contact us," Mrs. Yowell said.

RECONSTRUCTION PLANNED on the east approach of McKinley Bridge at Venice calls for complete replacement of this section. The supports beneath the approach will be eliminated and replaced by a dirt-filled base, topped with new pavement. J. S. Alberici Construction Co. of cert. He said the restriction will be continued for the remaining 22 events in the 1976 season.

Festival

Patrons will be requested to open all coolers and packages to enforce the restriction, Ward said. He added that the search procedures also should help minimize any illegal drug traffic into the festival site.

Ward said the festival does not condone any illegal activity, and additional police officers will be present to assist in enforcing state laws. In particular, enforcement of drug laws and the law prohibiting underage drinking will be stepped up, he said.

Ward said arrangements have been made with the Madison County Sheriff's Department to provide additional police protection as needed for the festival. Illinois State Police will aid in traffic control on highways leading to and from the festival, which is held on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

County officers will also assist in patrolling roads adjacent to the campus to control traffic and prevent illegal parking, Ward said.

"We are continually striving to make the festival safer and more enjoyable," Ward said. "Violations and crowd problems have not been proportionately excessive in the past, but it is our objective to reduce the possibility of problems to an absolute minimum. With the prohibition of cans and glass containers, the threat of injuries will be practically eliminated."

Ward also pointed to the health facilities at the MRF, which have been developed in consultation with an area physician and surgeon. There is an emergency treatment unit at all concerts, staffed with a registered nurse and two to six certified emergency medical technicians. A surgeon is on duty at all rock concerts and on call at other concerts.

With the collaboration of the Wood River Township Hospital Trauma Center, a fully-equipped emergency medical van is also provided at all rock concerts. In addition, an overland critical care van is provided for additional treatment space at some performances, in a program coordinated through the area hospital trauma centers and the Illinois Division of Emergency Medical Services.

City of Edwardsville ambulance services are utilized, and Wood River Township Hospital officers additional equipment and emergency personnel as needed.

Dr. Kochman said, "The festival is an asset we want to preserve and make even more attractive; thus we are constantly reviewing our security strengths—and weaknesses—to make sure everything possible is being done to prevent any problem. We want all to feel that the festival is a pleasant, refreshing place to come and enjoy programs suited to their personal tastes."

The 22 remaining events include four rock concerts, as well as dance, symphonic, chamber and popular family entertainment.

Car hits pole

Four members of the Dennis Crable family, 3202 Kirkpatrick Homes, were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital after their auto struck a concrete light pole on Nameoki Road at Leonard Avenue at 2:35 a.m. Saturday. Crable was treated for injuries to his left elbow and his chin.

Muriel Crable, 23, suffered a cut to her forehead, injuries to her right leg and an injury to her neck which required a collar be applied.

Two children in the car, Shanna Crable, 3, and Cindy Crable, 16 months, escaped serious injury and did not require emergency room examination.

Pontoon boosts budget, but cuts police funds

Combined budgets totaling $199,040 were approved by the Pontoon Beach Village Board for the 1976-77 fiscal year, despite objections from Village Board President Floyd David Moss that spending all of the money appropriated would break the village treasury.

The budgets are $14,910 higher than last year's combined budgets of $184,130, despite a $7,000 drop in the amount of federal revenue sharing money appropriated.

The village's general fund budget of $171,330 is $30,160 higher than the $141,170 appropriation in the previous year. Part of the increase is due to a separate $7,000 road and bridge budget of last year being abolished and the street department's appropriation of $9,000 this year being placed in the general fund budget under the heading "public works."

Over Moss' objections, the board voted to cut $25,168 from the salaries of the police department, reducing the appropriation for salaries from $119,168 to $94,000, and reducing the total budgeted for police department operations from $149,668 to $124,448.

The precise objective of the $25,168 cut is not known, but some police officers feel the money was to have been used for the salary raises the officers were promised May 1.

The general fund budget also includes $36,830 for administrative expenses.

Other budgets adopted included $7,750 for the sewer fund (down $1,250 from $9,000 last year), and $19,960 for the federal revenue sharing fund, down $7,000 from $36,960 last year.

Federal revenue sharing appropriations include $6,800 for financial administration, $750 for the health officer and $12,410 for public safety.

The public safety appropriation includes $5,200 for street lighting, $750 for the building inspection department, $960 for radio maintenance and $5,300 for a new police car.

Moss warned the board that the village's income during the fiscal year is estimated at only $138,000 and full expenditure of the $210,208 budgets would use all of the money the village has in the bank.

He made a motion that the village adopt last year's budget for this fiscal year and later amend the budget to reflect areas where higher appropriations are needed. He said the move would give the village another six to eight weeks to study the financial needs before finalizing the budget.

Moss' motion was defeated and board approved the new budgets, at which point Moss was reported to have torn his copy of the budgets in half.

Although there was no news media notification and no formal announcement, the budgets were available for public inspection, board members said the budgets were posted publicly 30 days in the village hall, which fulfills any legal requirements to give village residents an opportunity to study the budgets and express their views prior to the budgets being adopted.

Funds to support humanities works

The Illinois Humanities Council has announced the availability of funds to support public humanities programs related to the theme, Humanities and Public Policy.

According to John Rodman, director of the Office of Research and Projects at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, the deadline for submission of proposals is Aug. 15.

A proposed program must focus on a public issue that involves widespread public concern and which ultimately might be decided by voter referendum or governmental decision, Rodman said.

The program must directly involve teaching scholars in the humanities in the planning stage as well as its implementation, and must be directed primarily to the out-of-school adult audience, he said.

Additional information concerning the proposals may be obtained by contacting the SUE Office of Research and Projects. The office is located in Room 2202 of the John S. Randleman Building on the Edwardsville campus.

Fatal shooting at Venice

Thomas Ingram, 27, of East St. Louis, was shot fatally at 11:10 a.m. Sunday in the home of his former wife at 415 rear Weaver St., Venice.

A Madison man who told police that he shot Ingram in self-defense was released pending grand jury consideration of the case.

Police were called to the scene by Ruby Lee Ingram, and said they found Thomas Ingram lying in the hallway near the living room.

His assailant gave police a .357 magnum pistol from which one shot had been fired. He told authorities Ingram had tried to cut his throat with a knife. Police found a knife in the hallway.

Earlier Sunday at 1:45 a.m. the Madison man appeared at Venice police headquarters and signed complaints against Ingram, claiming he had damaged his auto following an argument between the victim and his former wife.

Counterfeit money alleged; 9 arrests

Richard Rose, 24, Granite City, operator of Rick's Pub, 208 Nineteenth St., has been charged by federal authorities with dealing in counterfeit money, the result of a Secret Service investigation in St. Louis and Arkansas.

The arrest of Rose was among six arrests in the St. Louis area. There were three arrests Thursday, believed related, in Jonesboro, Ark.

Secret Service agents allege seizing nearly $20,000 in counterfeit $10 and $20 bills of "only fair quality," authorities said.

Undercover agents alleged meeting a man who said he was Rose July 7 in a midtown St. Louis hotel, he told them he had a source of supply for counterfeit bills, it was related.

Arrangements were made with another of those arrested for agents to purchase $13,000 in bills, paying 50 per cent of the face value of the bills. The second man had told the agents the source of the bogus money was New Orleans, La., it was disclosed.

When money was delivered to agents in Cahokia, those delivering the money were arrested. A 25-caliber pistol also was taken from Guy Burgess, 33, Pocahontas, Ark., who allegedly was among those involved in the delivery of the money.

Arrested in the St. Louis area besides Rose and Burgess were Stanley C. Morris, 32, of Pocahontas, Jerry R. Clark, 24, and Arthur L. Henderson, both of St. Louis, and Paul Brown Jr., 33, Cahokia.

Arrested in Arkansas Thursday were Herman Spurlock and brothers Everett and Billy Walker, all of Hoxie, Ark.

Secret Service agents are investigating similarities between the bogus bills and bills printed, possibly with the same engraving plates, which led to the arrests of two men and the seizing of $32,000 in bogus money in January at Poplar Bluff, Mo.

The two men involved in the January arrests have been sentenced to serve three years in prison each in that case.

Mitchell station robbed

An undetermined amount of money was stolen from an attendant at Bill's Standard Service station, 80 W. Chain of Rocks Road, Mitchell, at 3:15 a.m. Sunday.

The attendant said he was working in the garage bay area when a man placed what felt like a pistol to the back of his head and said, "If you move, I'll blow your head off." He asked where the attendant kept his money and the attendant replied it was in his shirt pocket.

The robber then reached around to the pocket and removed the money. The victim was told to lie on the floor and was asked if there was some rope in the garage. Todd there was none, he tore the telephone receiver from the phone and used the telephone cord to tie the attendant's hands and left foot together behind his back.

The victim told authorities the man said, "Leave us time to get away before you make a move," and then left. It took him about 15 minutes to get free and notify officials. The man left on foot and no car was heard.

ZONING HEARING

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals will hold an on-site public hearing at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at 102 Booker St., in Vandalia Addition number three, an R-4 single family residential district of Venice Township, where Willie B. Irene and James Earl Taylor are requesting a special use permit to place a mobile home for up to five years.

George Bayer found dead under car

George F. Bayer, 58, of 316 Wickliffe St., Troy, a former Granite City resident, was found dead, pinned under his overturned car in the median of Interstate 70 a mile east of Route 157 at 6:46 a.m. Sunday.

Authorities suspect Mr. Bayer may have died of a heart attack moments before the accident occurred.

Witnesses said Mr. Bayer's westbound car went into the median and rolled over. The driver was thrown out of the car and the auto stopped upside down on top of him. He was pronounced dead at the scene by a Madison County deputy coroner from Troy.

He was employed as a roundhouse foreman for the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad.

Mr. Bayer was a member of St. Paul Lutheran Church, American Legion Post 708, both in Troy, and also belonged to the C.B.'ers. He was an Army veteran of World War II.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Estelle (Jackson) Bayer; two sons, Charles Bayer of Granite City and Robert Bayer of Minneapolis, Minn.; four sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Kowalk and Mrs. John (Heien) Kudskela, both of Granite City, Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Ed (Alma) Barnhardt, Russell, Ark. and two grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

HOUSE BURGLARY

A 410 shotgun, a 22 caliber automatic rifle and a .22 caliber blank pistol were taken from the residence of Earl Warren, 1609 Kennedy Drive. The theft was discovered at 1:15 a.m. today. Entry was gained by removing a window on a side door.

News notes

The Poplar Street bridge will be reopened to its full eight-lane width upon completion of pavement repair work on Illinois Route 3 exit lanes, in about three weeks. The Illinois Department of Transportation said. Work on the eight-lane viaduct that carries Interstate 55 and 70 over railroad tracks at the north limit of East St. Louis is about 50 per cent complete, with completion date set about Sept. 15, the department said.

Illinois will receive an extra $58.5 million in federal funds due to congressional approval of the $35 billion public works employment bill. The bill became law Thursday after the House, following similar action by the Senate on Wednesday, overrode President Ford's veto of the measure.

A decision this year on the $390 million Alton Lock and Dam project appears unlikely, it appeared during a Senate committee hearing on the controversial project at Washington. Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W.Va.) said he doubted a public works measure containing the lock and dam authorization could be considered in the House before its early October adjournment.

Michael J. Howlett, Illinois secretary of state and Democratic candidate for governor, was named to Chicago for a court test of conflict of interest charges against him. The suit was filed in response to a move by Attorney General William J. Scott to make Howlett pay the state some $2,000 in fees received from the Sun Steel Co., while he was chairman of the state Vehicle Recycling Board.

Express bus service will be offered here Saturday night for the football Cardinals' home exhibition open against the New York Jets.

The Automobile Club is warning drivers that when driving falls following a long dry spell, roads are especially hazardous because of the oil and rubber residue accumulating during the drought.

DO YOU MAKE AN EXTRA CHARGE WHEN THERE IS AN AUTOPSY?

In our experience we have never known a physician to request permission for an autopsy unless he was convinced it was necessary. There is never an extra charge at our mortuary for this.

Considerable progress in the medical arts and in law enforcement has come about through the advancement of autopsy knowledge. The American College of Pathologists has said: "The high standards of American medicine are, and will continue to be, dependent to a large degree on the frequency and care with which autopsies are performed. The hospital, the pathologist and the mortician must agree to discharge their responsibilities on the highest professional standards, and to promote mutual trust, confidence and good will."

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Hulse, 16 Goshen Meadows, Mount Vernon, Ill., former residents. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Thurston, Jerseyville, Ill.

For her wedding, the former Miss Hulse chose a long gown of white tulle with a fitted bodice of silk Venice lace, a round yoke and stand-up collar edged in lace. The long, full sleeves were gathered at the wrists into lace cuffs.

A full skirt of organza fell softly from a national waistline. She wore a Juliet cap to hold her lace-bordered melody-length veil and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis, baby's breath and trailing ivy.

Honor attendant Mrs. Janet Weeks chose a long gown of floral blue voile worn with a matching shawl. She held an arrangement of blue tinted carnations and baby's breath in a white basket. Bridesmaids Mrs. Jeanie Stratton and Miss Debbie Seebold selected identical dresses in yellow and pink. Each carried a basket of flowers in a shade to match her attire.

The flower girl, Mindy Kerckhoff, was dressed in a cream color voile frock with blue accents and carried a basket of blue blossoms.

Misses Beverly and Rhonda Thurston, sisters of the groom, served as candlelighters. Bob Meuth attended the groom as best man. Groomsmen and ushers included Terry Meredith, Ken Haar, Kirk Hulse and Craig Thurston, brothers of bride couple and Alan Mazur, a cousin of the groom.

Group fights power rate boost request

The Illinois Power Project (IPP), describing itself as "a coalition of consumers and environmentalists," outlined today a five-point strategy for its opposition to a 15 per cent electricity rate hike request made Friday by Illinois Power Co. (IPC).

"The power company is trying to make it sound like consumers will be getting a good deal with this rate hike," said Ron Knecht, of IPP. "But there is nothing good about a 15 per cent hike, especially when rates for large industrial and commercial users will be going up less and in some cases not at all."

Knecht said IPP will seek to file with the Illinois Commerce Commission as an intervenor in August. He listed five points on which the IPP argument will be based.

"Illinois Power already has one of the highest rates of return in the electric utility business, well above the rate set by the ICC for the company."

"IPP will ask the commission to make the IPC case a generic rate structure hearing, or one that would reconsider in principle the rates charged to various groups of customers. IPP believes residential users, especially those using less than the average amount of electric power, are paying too much and large users are paying too little."

"IPP will challenge the construction-work-in-progress provision sought by the power company to make consumers pay in advance for the Havana and Clinton power plants."

"IPP will try to stop during the hearings that Illinois Power is building too much generating capacity because forecasts of electric demand are too high. IPP will contend that in building nuclear plant at Clinton the power company has not chosen the least-cost alternative."

"IPP will ask the ICC to charge all promotional advertising and all other practices causing increased energy consumption to power company investors and not to consumers."

Kara Smith, 2, a daughter of Mrs. Jennifer Smith of 2905 Center St., was in Cardinal Glennon Hospital, St. Louis, today where she was taken following an auto accident at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in East St. Louis.

It is reported that Kara Smith was a passenger in a van driven by her mother when it was struck broadside by a car at the intersection of Ninth Street and St. Clair Avenue. Her mother stated that upon impact, the van's rear seat broke loose, throwing her daughter around the inside of the van.

She was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital here and then transferred to the St. Louis Hospital and placed in intensive care with a suspected bruise to her brain.

She was taken to a regular room during the weekend and her parents reported she is recuperating well and may be released today.

Deadline for fiscal plates

Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett last week cautioned second division vehicle owners that current 1976 fiscal year license plates will be illegal after midnight, July 30.

This will be the last day of the 30-day extension which Secretary Howlett authorized from the statutory June 30 deadline.

"So that we can be of better service to late purchasers of 1977 fiscal plates, five secretary of state facilities will be open an extra day on Saturday, July 24, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.," Howlett said.

"They are the three motor vehicle facilities in Chicago and at the Centennial building and Dirksen Parkway facility in Springfield."

Howlett noted that fiscal plates apply to trucks, trailers, farm trucks and trailers, permanently mounted equipment, auxiliary axles and buses. Licenses for mileage tax trucks and trailers were not included in the extension.

Latest figures show that 835,370 plates for the 1977 fiscal year have been purchased, an increase of 88,473 over a comparable date in 1975.

Driver charged after chase

Richard J. Lynch, 21, of 2613 Lynch Ave., faces five charges after police stopped his car on Madison Avenue at the National Food Store lot at 12:45 a.m. Friday.

An officer alleged he saw a car southbound on Madison Avenue at 23rd Street at a high rate of speed and chased the car at up to 80 miles-per-hour to where it was stopped in the 3000 block.

Lynch was charged with speeding (80 mph in a 35 mph zone) and reckless driving. After being issued the tickets, Lynch declined to leave the scene and told police they should spend more time chasing real hot rodders and criminals, it was alleged.

Officers said they told Lynch to leave the scene several times, but he refused. Force was necessary to arrest him, they contended, and an antenna was broken off a police car during the scuffle, according to official reports.

Lynch then was charged with damage to public property, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. He pleaded innocent to the charges and was released on $75 bond.

Tri-City Legion Post captures district baseball championship

Tri-City Post 113 swept through District 22 American Legion Baseball League playoffs at Highland, claiming the district championship and the right to compete Thursday in Fifth Division competition at Steelville.

Coach Conrad "Babe" Champion's Legionnaires opened the tourney Thursday with a 7-0 shutout of Fairview Heights and then beat Alton twice, 6-3 on Friday and 14-4 on Saturday.

Disappointment marked league season champion Belleville's efforts. That squad was nipped first 8-7 by Alton Thursday, and then 12-1 by Fairview on Friday in 12 innings.

After losing to Tri-City Friday, Alton advanced into the championship game with a 7-6 win over Fairview Saturday afternoon in the double-elimination tourney.

Now in his third season as coach, Champion praised the players and his assistants, Jack Scarborough and John Modica, for helping the team to a 16-9 league record and the playoff championship.

Johnny Pritchard was named by District 22 officials Saturday as the tournament's most valuable player. He collected five hits and batted in six runs in three games.

Post 113 now takes on Steelville at 1 p.m. Thursday in division competition there, with the winner taking on Harrisburg at 8 p.m. Thursday.

A 4 p.m. game Thursday pits Carleyle against Freeman Spur. Advancing teams at Steelville will play Friday and Saturday, with two squads playing at 2 p.m. Sunday for the right to compete in a state tourney at Springfield on Thursday, Aug. 12.

Against Alton Saturday night, Randy Lyerla went the distance on the mound for the win. Tri-City collected 16 hits and Alton six. Alton scored in the first inning on a solo homer by Kelly Boyd and added two runs in the second and one in the third.

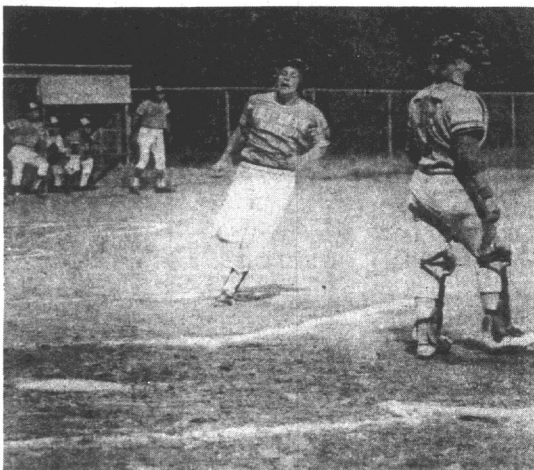

Post 113 went ahead 2-1 in the first when Tom Hennrich and Jeff Scarborough walked and Pritchard doubled them home.

Four Granite City runners crossed the plate in the second. Randy Smith singled, Lyerla reached base on a fielder's choice, Scarborough walked, Keith Champion doubled in two runs, a run was scored on a wild pitch, Pritchard and Eldon Warfield walked and a runner scored on Kirk Champion's sacrifice fly.

Smith drew a walk to start Tri-City's three-run third inning. Tom Hennrich got a hit, Scarborough reached base on an error, Pritchard doubled and a wild pitch allowed a run to score.

Two runs were scored in the fifth. Scarborough walked and Keith Champion and Pritchard singled prior to a wild pitch.

In the eighth, Smith walked and Lyerla homered. A hit by Hennrich, a walk to Scarborough and a hit by Pritchard added the final run.

Paul Evans improved his personal pitching record to 7-1 Thursday against Fairview.

Following lone runs in the second and fifth innings, Tri-City scored five times in the eighth. Keith Champion singled, Pritchard and Warfield reached on errors, Kirk Champion bunted for a hit and a run-batted-in. Mike Clark got a hit, Smith walked and Evans and Hennrich singled in runs.

Pitcher John Lakin started against Alton Friday, going eight and a third innings before being relieved by Lyerla in the 6-3 conquest.

Home runs by Alton in the fourth and sixth innings highlighted that team's effort. Tri-City jumped to a 4-0 lead in the first on hits by Hennrich and Scarborough, a walk to Keith Champion and hits by Pritchard and Warfield.

In the third with two outs, Clark doubled and Smith singled him home. The two players later repeated that scoring process.

Mercer double victor over Thomas ball team

For a second time this season, in Illinois Inter-City Baseball League action, Mercer defeated Thomas in doubleheader competition 5-1 and 9-3 at Wilson Park on Sunday.

The wins leave Mercer with an 18-4 league record and Thomas with a 2-20 mark.

Mercer fielded faultlessly in both contests, first with John Scott on the mound and then with Greg Wolk taking the win.

The victors opened the first game with two runs when Jack Scarborough and Jim Greenwald walked and Bob Scott singled them home.

Two more Mercer runners made it home in the second. Schaeke and Scott both reached on errors, Greenwald walked and Scott again delivered a hit.

In the sixth, Scarborough singled and was retired on a fielder's choice which allowed Dennis Harrington to reach base. Harrington stole second and scored on Greenwald's double.

Thomas' run came in the sixth. Roger Coakley tripled, John Jaros walked and Rick Fossieck reached on a fielder's choice as Coakley was retired. Jaros scored on a muffed pickoff attempt at second base.

A two-run homer by Greenwald with Scarborough on base in the first inning of the second contest sparked Mercer to the repeat win.

Two more runs scored in the second when Ken Schaeke walked, Wolk singled, Scarborough reached on an error and Dennis Harrington singled.

Following a walk to Scott in the third, Bob Hughes Vic Reznack singled as the lead grew to 5-1.

In the fourth, Scarborough and Greenwald both singled and Scott hit a sacrifice fly.

Back-to-back walks to Ken and Dave Schaeke and a hit by Wolk, all in the fifth, made the score 7-1.

The winners added two in the seventh on a single by Ken Schaeke, a triple by Scarborough and a single by Harrington.

Hits by Jim Croner, Don Rains and Greg Rains provided a run for Thomas in the second inning.

A triple by Stan Hale, a walk to Ed Hagnauer and a single by Roger Coakley in the fifth accounted for the other Thomas run.

In other league action yesterday, Highland-Pierson lost 5-4 to the East Alton Vans and then defeated the Vans 7-1.

Jones, Gibson first across the finish line

Rob Jones of Ellsberry, Mo., paced a field of late model stock cars from start-to-finish Saturday night in winning his first feature race of the season at Tri-City Speedway.

Granite City's Les Gibson took top honors in the sportsman division main event.

Jones earlier joined Norm Cox and Clark Reed as a heat race winner and then led C. Corbin, Bill Myers, Mike Hammer and Billy Collins under the checkered flag in the feature.

Collins was victorious in a semi-main event, and Kevin Gundaker captured the trophy dash.

John Wolfmeier was second and Kris Krohn third behind Gibson in the sportsman feature. Bill Reed and Jerry Zehnel were heat race winners.

Tom Isaac outlasted all competitors in winning a demolition derby under the regular racing program.

American Motorcycle Association-sanctioned short-track cycling races return here tomorrow, with time trials at 7 p.m. and racing at 8 p.m.

Summers active for Cubs

John "Champ" Summers of Granite City saw action for the Chicago Cubs during a four-game series against the Cardinals at Busch Stadium in St. Louis Thursday through yesterday.

In Sunday's game, Summers was an unexpected starter in left field and played seven innings before being replaced by Jose Cardenal.

In the first inning, Summers walked and advanced to second on another walk but was stranded there. A line drive to Cardinal shortstop Don Kessinger was nabbed in the third to halt Summers.

He popped out to centerfield and Joe Ferguson in the sixth before being taken out of the lineup when Al Hrabosky, a left-hander, replaced starting pitcher Lynn McGlothen in the eighth inning.

Summers neatly collected several fly balls to left but committed one error in the game. The Cardinals won 4-3 Sunday.

Summers played throughout the series and his solid hit in Thursday's opening game aided the Cubs' 8-4 victory.

The Cardinals and the Cubs split the four-game series, the Cubs winning the first two and the Cardinals the final two games.

Summers was an outstanding baseball player for Madison High School and for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Granite City's Kris Whelan, a 105-pound wrestler and a student at GCHS North, followed up his state freestyle championship in Iowa to take runnerup honors last week in national freestyle competition in which more than 600 matmen competed.

A national Greco-Roman wrestling champion, he was named recipient of an outstanding wrestler award after competing in nine bouts, losing his final match 3-1 to a New York wrestler.

Bob Whelan, Kris' father and an assistant wrestling coach at North High, relates that his son competed in 29 bouts in five days.

Petrillo '76 state softball champion

Granite City teams have captured the Amateur Softball Association's women's softball tournament every year since that division's inception in 1969, and yesterday was no exception.

The Granite City Park District entry drew a first-round bye in the week-long double-elimination tournament held at Monticello, Ill., and then lost its opening game before winning nine straight contests to claim the title.

Petrillo defeated Hecker, Ill., twice in the final, 2-1 and 2-0. Caseyville's Basuenders placed third.

300 to 400 hogs die in fire

An estimated 300 to 400 hogs were killed in a fire Friday that burned from 6:30 p.m. to 10:35 p.m. at a hog farm on Bend Road in Eagle Park. A financial loss estimate has not been made, firemen said.

Madison and Long Lake fire departments were called for additional water and both departments, under mutual assistance agreements sent their water tankers to the scene.

A spokesman for the Venice Fire Department said firemen believe the fire started from a trash fire which caught dry grass and weeds on fire, spreading to the hog pen and sheds which covered nearly an acre of ground.

Efforts were made to seal the hogs free and get them out of the wooden sheds, but many simply ran back into the sheds after they were chased out, firemen reported.

Planning commission elects Canty, Belloff

The Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission reorganized Thursday night, expanding its executive board and electing Victor Canty as president and John N. Belloff as vice-president for the July 1976 term.

Canty is St. Clair County Board chairman and Belloff is Madison city clerk and chairman of the Tri-City Regional Port District.

Belloff is an assistant vice-president of the First National Bank in Madison. Since Canty already serves on the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council board of directors, Belloff will join the East-West board as a Southwestern Commission representative.

The new Southwestern secretary is Elmer Prange, chairman of the Monroe County Board, and the treasurer is Lester Campbell, chairman of the Washington County Board.

The Southwestern Commission board was approximately doubled in size and consists of eight members: Madison County, eight from St. Clair County and two each from Monroe, Randolph, Washington, Bond and Clinton Counties.

Increased emphasis is being given to the role of elected officials.

JOHN N. BELLOFF

Among the 26 board members chosen Thursday night at the Collinsville Holiday Inn were Madison County, Board Chairman Nelson Hagauer, Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison, Mayor Paul Schuler of Granite City and Belloff.

Also representing Madison County on the board are retiring Southwestern President Jack Wranden of the Madison County Board, Mary Hildebrand of Edwardsville, Bethalto Mayor Erwin Plegge and Wood River Mayor William Maguray.

GC seniors open Y program

The first event of a 16-month recreational program under grant for senior citizens of Granite City was attended last week by 250 persons who turned out to enjoy games, swimming, group singing and a buffet dinner.

Although it was a warm evening, the group found many different rooms in the Y to make themselves comfortable and enjoy an evening of good fellowship and fun, Harold Rudolph, executive director of the Y, said.

"We had planned for 150 to 200," he said.

The next event planned for August is a bus trip to the State Fair in Springfield for "Senior Citizens Day" on Friday, Aug. 20. Two bus loads are to make the trip.

Power rate

have to continue reliable and effective service to our customers," Wells commented. It is not anticipated the Commerce Commission will act upon the rate request for about 11 months, but the company has requested a decision within 30 days. "It is doubtful we will get a decision as quickly as we would like," Wells noted.

If approved as submitted, the higher rates would increase the company's revenue about $40,000,000 per year, which is needed to cover a 55 per cent payroll increase in the past five years, increased costs for all materials, a new $100 million power plant at Havana, Ill., and to keep the company's stock attractive to prospective buyers.

Wells said the new rates provide three separate classes of residential users. One is for about 133,000 "low summer use" customers which Wells termed "the non-air conditioning class."

The increase will average about 14.9 per cent in this class, he estimated. The monthly facility charge also would increase from $1.25 per month to $3.15 per month in this class.

The second group is the 293,000 residential users with high summer air-conditioning loads where the increase would average 15.8 per cent.

A third group, termed "energy management residential service" users, will be offered electric demand meters which keep a record of electric use. Some may achieve lower rates based upon a complex formula which rewards those with limited summer electrical use.

The third alternative will be voluntary and is experimental, Wells said.

Responding to a question, Wells said the rates would raise about $100 million to help pay the cost of the new Havana power plant, which will not begin producing electricity until early 1978.

He noted there have been challenges to the concept of paying for the electricity before it is produced, but said the Illinois Commerce Commission has upheld the method in other cases.

He also said charging for a portion of the cost now will help avoid some of the interest cost on the borrowed money.

Theoretically, if you continued to use electricity for the life of the Havana plant, you would pay the same amount whether payments begin now or when the plant opens," he noted.

He said no large opposition to this portion of the rate increase is expected because the rates are expected to take effect about June 1977 and the plant will be open early in 1978.

"We are not talking about a great amount of time. If we waited, we would just have to turn around and request another rate increase in 1977 to help pay for the new plant," he added.

The two residential rates, if adopted, will still maintain Illinois Power's position of having the lowest residential rates of any major Illinois utility, he said.

"Because of seasonal pricing differences, we can't give the customary comparisons such as the charges for the "typical" 500 kilowatt hour a month customer," Wells said. "Each customer is an individual case. Our customer service representatives throughout our service areas will be prepared to answer individual queries."

In Service Classification 1, "residential service—small," the estimated 133,000 customers will pay a facilities charge of $3.15 a month, plus 3.6 cents per kilowatt hour (Kwh) used in each summer monthly billing period.

To gain the benefit of year-round lower rates, such customers are limited to 450 Kwh in all but one of the four summer months. For the remaining eight months, they will be charged a rate of 3.6 cents per Kwh for the first 150 Kwh a month, 2.6 cents per Kwh for the next 75 Kwh, and 1.85 cents for all others.

A typical customer in this group 133,000 will pay $3.63 Kwh annually and will pay an additional $12.49 or 9.5 per cent a year over his present rate," Wells said.

In Service Classification 2, "residential service," 293,000 customers will pay a facilities charge of $3.40 a month and the flat charge of 3.6 cents a Kwh each month for the four summer billing periods, he said.

For the remaining eight months, the monthly charge will be 3.6 cents for the first 150 Kwh, 2.6 cents for the next 75 Kwh, and 1.85 cents for all others.

Wells estimated that a "typical" customer in the group uses 9,577 Kwh annually, and will experience an annual cost increase of 16.8 per cent or $52.02.

"Actually," Wells said, "all the new users are designed to recognize good load and energy management procedures, and to reward efficient use of energy."

After several rate reductions in the 1960's Illinois Power was granted a 5 per cent electric rate increase in 1973 and in the following year, received a 3 per cent increase in electric rates.

In February 1975, the commerce commission approved an additional 6 per cent electric rate increase, and a 9 per cent increase in commercial and industrial gas rates. On March 1, 1976, the commission directed the company to equalize residential gas rates by equal increases in some areas, and a decrease in others.

The company seeks to include in its rate base a portion of the construction costs of the 450,000 kilowatt coal-fired number six unit at its Havana plant, due for completion in 1978.

No changes in residential gas rates are included in the filing, Wells said, but the commission is asked to make changes in provisions of an order of February 13, 1975, establishing a class of limited firm customers to allow IP to retain more of the added revenue from that rate. The effect on non-residential customers would be less than a 7 per cent increase.

Return on estimated tax can help taxpayer avoid penalty

A number of taxpayers who have income that is not subject to withholding, or from which not enough federal tax was withheld, have been notified of a penalty due on their income tax return for 1975. The reason for this, according to Ira S. Loeb, director of Internal Revenue Service, is because they did not file an estimated tax return for 1976.

Taxpayers who find themselves in this predicament, for example, persons who receive pensions, annuities, interest, dividends, rents, etc., from which federal income tax was not withheld, still may have a chance to avoid further penalties if they prepare and file a Form 1040-ES for 1976 and make a quarterly payment by Sept. 15, Mr. Loeb said.

Whether a taxpayer is required to file a declaration of estimated tax for 1976 depends upon how much of the income will be received for the year and how much the person estimates will be subject to withholding of tax.

"Basically, if $100 or more tax is owed, or if the estimated gross income for 1976 includes more than $500 in income on which no tax has been withheld, an estimated tax return should be filed," Loeb said.

Loeb cautioned that married people who are both employed should figure out what their estimated tax for the year will be. Many times the withholding structures for married people do not consider more than one person working, and when the incomes are combined on a joint return, it often places them in a higher tax bracket.

"If you'd like to discuss your personal tax situation with us, call the IRS toll-free telephone number. One of our tax assistants will be glad to help you," Loeb advised. The toll-free number, 800-252-2921, is shown in all telephone directories. The number to call in Springfield is 789-4220.

Bicentennial

build and administer a new series of tollways.

The tollway system was constructed between 1956 and 1958.

The Illinois Tollway required $42,000,000 of bonds for its 187 miles: the Tri-State Tollway stretched 83 miles; The North-South Tollway, 76 miles; and the East-West Tollway, 28 miles.

The federal government passed the Federal Aid Highway Act in 1956 with a 90 per cent funding provision for a 40,000-mile interstate system.

Those who supported the plan cited energy efficiency, safety and economic stimulus as major reasons.

Some even argued that freeways could be useful in evacuating cities in the event of a Russian nuclear attack.

Illinois was allocated 1,725 miles of interstate highway and stood third among the 50 states in this regard.

By 1968, Interstate 80 was completed from Rock Island to the Indiana border south of Chicago.

Interstate 55 followed the oldest route between St. Louis and Chicago, paralleled Route 40 and crossed an eight-lane bridge into Missouri.

Interstate 70 crossed the state from Terre Haute, Ind., to East St. Louis.

By 1968, the interstates comprised one per cent of state highway mileage but carried 20 per cent of its vehicle traffic.

By 1971, 1,400 of the allotted 1,725 miles of interstate were under construction, and the state boasted that it was well ahead of the national average.

The Chicago-Cairo Interstate 55 opened in that year.

In response to this growth, Illinois organized the Department of Transportation on Jan. 1, 1972.

It combined the former Department of Aeronautics, Division of Waterways, Chicago Area Transportation Study, and Division of Highways.

The elegant building which houses speaks to the importance it held in the minds of governmental decision-makers. Just at a time when growth seemed unlimited, just after Chicago football fans were able to make the trip to Champaign-Urbana for a Saturday game unimpeded by stoplights, a series of reservations were raised about the entire development.

And now the state was faced with an unprecedented energy shortage.

Experts began to predict the disappearance of petroleum in the next 30 years.

There were those who complained that the new highways were responsible for unplanned urban sprawl, or objected to pollution of the air, or protested the lack of aesthetic appreciation displayed by the engineers who constructed the highways.

And now began to question the cost as compared with expenditures on social services—hospitals, welfare, education, and the like.

Whatever the final outcome of this debate, the years from the Korean War to the first energy crisis in Illinois should be remembered for the construction of an overland transportation system rivaled only in achievement that of the Roman Empire.

Arrested in Kirkpatrick

Mark Carrico, 22, of 2225 Lincoln Ave., was arrested in Kirkpatrick Homes Thursday and was charged with criminal trespass to property, disorderly conduct and resisting a police officer.

Barbara Hasty, 4911 Kirkpatrick Homes, alleged a stranger walked into her home and refused to leave. Mrs. Hasty sent her son to bring a neighbor man in for assistance and the stranger refused to leave after the neighbor arrived. Police then were called.

Officers took Carrico to the Granite City Jail and he appeared Friday before a judge who fined him $25 and court costs for resisting arrest. Carrico pleaded innocent to disorderly conduct and criminal trespass to property and was released on a $500 recognizance bond.

Court plea asks halt to 'unsupervised' leaves

The Illinois Department of Corrections has suspended the department's independent release time program as the result of action instituted by four prosecuting agencies, including Madison County, charging abuses of the program.

Charles Rowe, department acting director, said he ordered the program suspended after three state's attorneys, including State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron of Madison County, filed proceedings with the Illinois Supreme Court in an effort to halt inmates from making "unsupervised" excursions into communities.

The program, according to Byron, allows certain inmates of a halfway house, correctional institution or penitentiary who have not been granted a parole to relieve work areas for up to six hours to do what they please "including going to taverns."

Byron said the suit before the Supreme Court is based on a case involving a Madison County convict in Joliet State Prison who was indicted for burglary that occurred during an unsupervised leave.

The court proceeding questioned whether the department is legally authorized to permit unsupervised leaves.

Rowe said the program will be reviewed by the department and its adult advisory board.

Plan benefit for Nameoki police unit

Beeline Fashions, a program developed by Riskey Garcia and Diane McIntyre, will be presented Tuesday, Aug. 3, at the Long Lake Firemen's Hall, 4113 Pontoon Road, as a benefit program to aid the new Nameoki Volunteer Police Department.

Latest in fashions will be shown at the event for spectators to order, with the profits from sales going to the police unit for maintenance and operational purposes.

The police unit expects to receive a police car, uniforms and equipment from Nameoki Township, but will be required to provide its own maintenance and operating funds.

LOGGINS and MESSINA bring a rich background of rock music experience to the Mississippi River Festival at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday. The appearance will be the last opportunity for residents in this area to see them before their announced breakup.

Rock concerts, chamber music among River Fest offerings

Gordon Lightfoot, Loggins and Messina chamber music the Murray Louis Dance Company and a special documentary film are all on tap this week at the Mississippi River Festival on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

A special documentary, "The Other Half of the Sky," will be shown this evening in Meridian Hall at 8:30 p.m. The documentary is a look into the lives of the people of mainland China that was written and produced by film actress and activist Shirley MacLaine and directed by Claudia Weill.

Miss Weill, an award-winning producer-director who also did the photography and editing of the documentary, will be a guest lecturer prior to the showing on Monday. Her talk will start at 7:30 p.m.

On Tuesday evening Canadian folksinger and writer Gordon Lightfoot returns to the MRF at 8:30 p.m. with special guest Tom Chapin. Lightfoot has been in the forefront of folk-rock music since the mid-60's, and has had a number of hits, including the current album, "Summertime Dream."

Tom Chapin, brother of Harry Chapin who appeared at the Festival in late June, has been the star of "Make A Wish" on network television and performed in his brother's group. Last season at the MRF, Tom Chapin was the opening act for brother Harry's performance. Loggins and Messina, appearing at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, are on their final tour together since their announced breakup. The two have been recording and writing together for five years, since newcomer Kenny Loggins joined ex-Buffalo Springfield and Poco member Jim Messina to produce their first album, "Kenny Loggins with Jim Messina Sittin' In."

Since then, the two have not had five gold or platinum albums on their own, but have contributed material to other artists ranging from the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band to Anne Murray to Lynn Anderson. Firefall will be appearing as the opening act for the Loggins and Messina concert.

The Thursday Chamber Music Concert, also starting at 8:30 p.m., will feature work by Puccini, Schumann, Brahms, and Gershwin. Bernard Schneider will be on trombone, Robert Schieber on viola, and Joseph Pival on violinello for Vincent Persichetti's "Sonata No. 6, Opus 44."

George Meili will be on clarinet, Schieber on viola, and Linda Perry on piano for Robert Schumann's "Marchenerzhungen, Opus 132." Hiroko Saito will be on violin and George Siffles on piano for Brahms' "Sonata in D minor, Opus 108." After an intermission, Barbara Liberman will perform the solo piano version of George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue."

The Murray Louis Dance Company will perform Friday and Saturday, July 30 and 31, at the Festival site, beginning at 8:30 each evening. Murray Louis is ranked among the great dancers and choreographers of the world and has been called by Clive Barnes of the New York Times, "a tremendous virtuoso dancer with a kind of muscular control that probably cannot be matched."

His company recently completed a South American tour and has toured the United States and Canada.

Nine forgery charges filed

Bradley "Buffalo" McGiffin, 25, of 2104 Cleveland Blvd., was charged Friday with nine counts of forgery and one count of burglary following an investigation into stolen checks being cashed in this area.

Officials of K-Mart told police at 3:25 p.m. Thursday that a $21 check they cashed was returned as stolen and forged. From a camera K-Mart uses to take photos of everyone cashing checks, police said they identified a man's photo and arrested McGiffin.

He was questioned at length by detectives who then charged him with forging the K-Mart check, and forging five others at Schnuck's grocery here, two at National Food Store and one at the Sonic Service Station.

RIVER ROAD CONNECTION. Construction of the new FA Route 151 extension from Granite City to Venice is shown in this view, looking north from the east approach of the McKinley Bridge. Work also is under way at the Granite City end of the project. The Great River Road will tie into the bridge approach at this point, along with traffic from relocated Broadway in Venice, shown entering the bridge approach at the right of photo. (Press-Record Photo)

Sewers

EPA for awarding construction contracts in Area One. If the contracts are awarded by the Madison County Board and are approved immediately by the EPA, construction could begin before the end of this year.

It is anticipated the entire project will take two years to complete, but some segments might be completed within a year.

There have been statements made by persons opposing the means of financing the local share of construction in Area One that they will attempt to find grounds to seek an injunction against further work in establishing the special sewer district.

In some areas, persons are said to be taking collections door-to-door to pay for an attorney to file for the injunction.

Most of those opposing the project are objecting to the creation of the special sewer district which includes all those to be served by the proposed sewers. Each resident is to be taxed to repay the one-fourth local share of the construction being raised through the sale of general obligation bonds.

Under state law, had 51 per cent of the homeowners and 51 per cent of the registered voters in Area One signed petitions against the creation of the taxing district, the county clerk would have been prohibited from creating the district.

Without the taxing district, the general obligation bonds, which are repaid by taxes, could not have been sold.

Residents in Areas Two and Three were successful in obtaining about 50 per cent of the totals of registered voters, so the Madison County Board voted to hold those areas in abeyance, pending research into other means of financing the local share of the cost.

Meetings are to be held with residents of Areas Two and Three to determine if they wish to pay higher tap-on fees or to pay monthly for sewer service to repay revenue bonds, if they can be sold.

Revenue bonds are more expensive than general obligation bonds, and officials feel it is doubtful they would find buyers for the revenue bonds.

The sale of general obligation bonds for Area One is to begin soon in Chicago as the county board already has authorized its bonding attorney to begin to advertise for bids on interest rates for the bonds.

600,000 faces in police kit

There are over 600,000 possible faces that can be obtained by using the Granite City Police department's identification composite kit.

Detective Donald Knight demonstrated and explained composite identifications to the Breakfast Kiwanis Club at its meeting Thursday morning at Charlie's restaurant.

Detective Knight was introduced by Kiwanian George Teller, who also is the assistant chief of police in Granite City. Next Thursday, the group will hold a business meeting, according to Norman Kinder, president.

Three hurt on Johnson Road

Three people were injured when the cars of Joe Mitzel, 39, of 2209 Delmar Ave., and Glenda Oliver, 17, of 5124 Old Alton Road, were involved in an accident on Johnson Road west of Terrace Lane at 6:45 a.m. Friday.

The drivers and Edith Mitzel, 38, also of 2209 Delmar Ave., were injured and went to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment.

Mitzel suffered pain to his neck and x-rays were administered. Mrs. Mitzel suffered a contusion to her scalp and also underwent x-rays.

Glenda Oliver struck her head on the windshield of her car and her left knee struck the dashboard. She suffered minor injuries.

All three were released after emergency room treatment.

Engineers to study ADM sewer problems

Granite City officials and representatives of Archer Daniels Midland Co. met Thursday to discuss a malfunctioning lift station behind the Steelcase Subdivision which has allowed the city discharge from the ADM soybean processing plant to flood lawns in that subdivision on several occasions.

According to Assistant Granite City City Street Superintendent Jim Stack, ADM agreed to bring in engineers from the lift station's manufacturer in Chicago to study the problem and the city agreed to continue to work with the company in an effort to resolve the problem.

ADM constructed the lift station and accompanying sewers for the soybean processing plant and then deeded the sewer and lift station to the city.

City officials have contended the hot and oily discharge from the soybean processing plant is responsible for fouling the switches which turn the lift station pump on and off.

ADM has worked with the city attempting to resolve the problem and has replaced the switches several times, but no permanent solution for the problem has been found.

Stack contended the plant may have to change the temperature and nature of the effluent discharge, noting, "If we get that lift station working right, we may just clog the city's Wabash Avenue lift station."

Granite City aldermen, at a City Council meeting last week, demanded an immediate and permanent solution be found to the problem in the near future.

Accreditation at doctoral degree level granted SIUE

Accreditation at the doctoral degree level has been granted to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The announcement was made Friday by the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools (NCA).

Also included in the accreditation action was approval of accreditation at the first professional degree level, covering the Doctor of Dental Medicine program, as well as reaffirmation of accreditation for the baccalaureate, master's and sixth-year specialist degree programs.

The doctor of dental medicine degree had previously been approved by the Council on Education of the American Dental Association.

Andrew J. Kochman, acting president of SIUE, said the accrediting action announced by the NCA was based upon conclusions and recommendations of a report prepared by a team of educators representing the association, who visited the Edwardsville campus and evaluated University programs in March of this year.

A proposed doctor of education degree in the instructional process, a central focus of the evaluation visit, was previously approved by the University Board of Trustees and the Illinois State Board of Higher Education, President Kochman said.

The president said SIUE will be required to file a progress report concerning development of its doctoral degree program (Ed.D. in The Instructional Process) in 1978, and the program again will be reviewed in 1980. He said the University must also notify the association of further plans for expansion at the doctoral level.

Closing of ranks best hope for GOP success this fall

One way to identify a prophet of doom really these days is to ask anybody who claims to be attuned to the political tides about the future of the Republican Party. An off the cuff response is usually lugubrious. The respondent probably would say that the GOP is in trouble and sinking fast.

A more learned pundit might draw a parallel between the demise of the Wing Party in the mid-19th Century and the current condition of the Republicans, as many have.

After all, the usual line goes, can a party that claims only 22 per cent of the voters' allegiance consider itself viable? Others believe the differences between President Ford and Ronald Reagan as deep and divisive as the slavery issue that sent the Whigs into oblivion.

Those who look beneath the surface might change their minds. Consider, for example, the recent observation by British journalist Henry Fairlie that Republicans have occupied the White House as many years as Democrats have since World War II.

Nor do we see a contradiction between the fact that Republican presidents are elected despite the low 22 per cent GOP registration figure.

It is evident that a majority of Americans, whatever their party label, believe in the basic philosophies of the Republican Party.

Internal Revenue Service starting to develop new image

Press-Record Washington Bureau — The kindly visage being put forth this year by the Internal Revenue Service in its collection efforts gains much of its brightness only in comparison to the harsh memory of recent and lengthy power abuse.

More flexible procedures have been adopted, according to Thomas L. Davis, director of the collection division, because "public acceptance of and confidence in the IRS are the keys to maintaining and fostering our voluntary compliance tax system."

But it is entirely possible that the new consideration for the delinquent taxpayer is also an agency response to mounting and more widespread criticism of agency tactics. Congress, the news media and consumer groups have led the barrage of complaints.

Changes have been initiated following a two-year reappraisal of IRS collection methods. One of the first recognized that there is a difference in taxpayers. New programs for collection take into account the attitude of the laggard taxpayer.

If he is cooperative, a minimum of red tape is required and the agency exercises restraint in applying the pressures available.

Too many abandon representative government for tyranny

Press-Record Washington Bureau — We who live in the oldest major democratic republic in the world (the reference is to what it is, not what it was, ostensibly, set up to be) and one of the last still in some semblance of working order, seem to be strangely fascinated by tyranny.

Maybe it's because tyrannies are so "well," efficient.

In the 1930's, Charles Lindbergh, who should have known something about the indomitability of the human spirit, advised Britain and France that they could not hope to win a war against resurgent Germany under the Nazis.

A decade earlier, journalist and social reformer Lincoln Steffens had visited the Soviet Union and returned saying, "I have seen the future and it works."

Now another American has returned from another budding tyranny, that of Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, and reports that he has seen the present and it is working in India — except for a few intellectuals, newspaper editors, opposition politicians and other dissenters who have borne the brunt of her "emergency" crackdown.

Even though foreign critics have called Mrs. Gandhi a dictator, "there is little doubt that the concept of the emergency has gained public acceptance in India," says Francis R. Valeo, Asian affairs expert and secretary of the U.S. Senate.

He traveled recently on a fact-finding mission to India, Pakistan and Bangladesh at the request of Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield.

Foreign observers in India are unanimous, he says, in holding that Mrs. Gandhi would win a vote of confidence if — a strong defense, a responsible budget, economy of government, deference to the constitution and pride in the United States. Those who may doubt this assessment have but to turn their ears to the present political dialogue. Even the Democrats, who are considered in the lead for the White House, are espousing these philosophies, in effect trying to pre-empt Republican conservatism to one degree or another.

Precise analyses of political matters also realize that the vigorous debate between President Ford and Mr. Reagan is not basically ideological. Their differences are by no means even close to the deep divisions over principles that split the Republicans off from the Whigs in 1854.

Both Republican candidates favor a strong United States posture in the world. Both are internationalists, free traders, supporters of continuing discussions with China and Russia and hold similar views on domestic problems.

Whatever differences they have are largely over procedure and approach — which should not be fatal to any party.

Republicans should not despair of the future despite the frustrations of the spring and summer. There is no reason why the GOP cannot win in November.

The only obstacle to this goal in the months ahead will be if party members fail to close ranks after the gavel falls in Kansas City in mid-August.

In addition, a management review is required before the salary of a delinquent taxpayer is assessed. In some cases, a notice of intent is issued to save the taxpayer embarrassment.

The agency, Davis says, would not object to legislation exempting a portion of a collection target's salary from an IRS levy, leaving him with at least "subsistence income."

Management review — even "high management review" — has also been ordered before property can be seized to satisfy IRS demands, as the agency admits it may have been "overzealous" in the past.

Agents have been cautioned not to lecture or to prejudice suspected evaders. And just to be sure that the taxpayer understands that the IRS has been reformed, delinquents are urged to read a booklet, "The Collection Process," that spells out their new rights.

Enthusiasm for the altered IRS image may be restrained, not only because the changes are overdue, but because this need has long been obvious. Even so, the painful shift to reasonableness is welcome.

elections were held at this time. But, of course, elections are not going to be held at this time or at any other time in the foreseeable future and would mean little if they were.

That has Mrs. Gandhi done for India lately? "Inflation has been halted. Hoarders and speculators are disgorging their holdings and corruption has been curbed."

"Civil servants have become more attentive to public needs. Industry and labor seem to be responding to the government's pleading or pressure for increased output. Similarly, the railroads are providing better service."

Unquestionably, things were in terrible shape in India (made that way by its own government) and called for drastic measures, just as they were in China, Russia in the 1920s and Germany, Italy and Spain in the 1930s and China, Vietnam, Korea, Cuba and etc., etc., in the 1950s and 1960s.

Each of these new-born tyrannies, including the "eternities" has or had at one time its own lobby of champions in this country.

The 20th Century's casualty list of people who have tried representative government and later abandoned it for tyranny, or who never tried freedom at all, does not make for comforting reading.

Why any American should be the slightest bit enthusiastic that yet one more country has taken the autocratic route to solving its problems is difficult to understand.

What I would hope to do in these remarks is face up to a responsibility that those of us who have been working in education might not have faced. It is our responsibility to communicate certain basic values to our society as a whole. These values do not involve

AMERICA PAST, PRESENT, FUTURE Recreation

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of articles celebrating the Bicentennial. Each one describes a separate aspect of American life, as it appeared 200 years ago, as it stands today, and as it is likely to look in 2076, as envisioned by specialists in that particular field. This article deals with recreation.

By ROBERT BETTS

The Revolution of 1776 left little time for recreation. Those who were not fighting were hard at work, growing food, making the bullets, helping to ensure the survival of a struggling new nation.

Congress voted "to discourage every species of extravagance and dissipation, especially all horse-racing, cock-fighting, exhibitions of shows, plays and other excessive diversions and entertainments."

While the Revolutionary ban on playing was observed by the patriots, the British occupying forces not only ignored it but turned the theater into a vehicle of loyalist propaganda. Anti-American plays were staged in Boston, New York and other occupied towns.

The greatest drama of all, however, overshadowing all the Tory propaganda efforts, was the one staged by the Revolutionary leaders in Philadelphia — when they signed the Declaration of Independence.

Republicans should not despair of the future despite the frustrations of the spring and summer. There is no reason why the GOP cannot win in November.

The only obstacle to this goal in the months ahead will be if party members fail to close ranks after the gavel falls in Kansas City in mid-August.

Americans spend more than $4 billion a year to buy sporting equipment and attend sports events.

The United States has more organizations for meeting the people's recreational needs than any other country. In addition to the many private associations, nearly all cities and towns of any size, plus the state governments and about 30 federal government agencies make some provision for recreation.

Facilities range from local parks, swimming pools, museums and libraries to state and national parks, forest preserves, fishing and boating areas and public beaches. American art museums are estimated to have 70 million visitors a year, theaters have nearly 47 million, opera draws nearly 40 million and ballet draws nearly 12 million.

Americans spend $2 billion a year going to the movies, another $1 billion on theaters, operas and concerts and more than $2 billion for admission to amusement parks.

How will Americans spend their leisure time in 2076? As science makes it possible to produce more in less time, they will be able to manipulate their environment to mesh with personal interests. Not only will the average working day be shorter — 40 hours at the most, some futurists believe — but high-speed communications technology will probably eliminate the need for many workers to go to the office at all. They will start "tele-commuting" from neighborhoods and later home — telecommunications centers equipped with two-way cable TV channels.

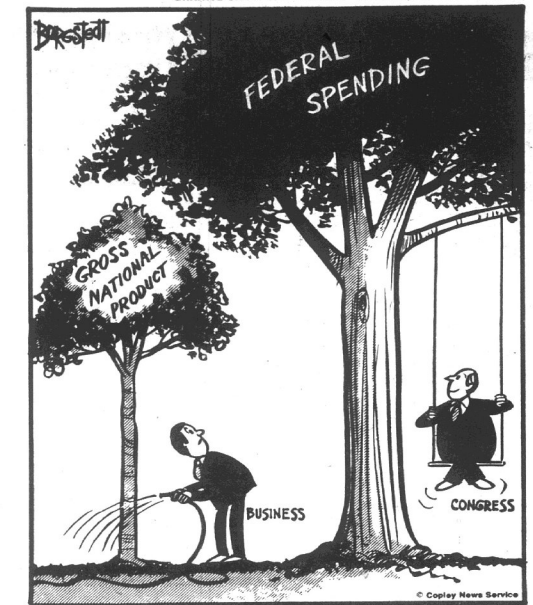

TV will become the most important element of the "fingertip" society, the "retrieval world," instantly, everywhere available to everyone.

Robert Lewis Shayon, professor of Communications at the University of Pennsylvania, predicts, "TV will be the 'ask-for-it-and-get-it' medium. Information, games, education will be created in electronic packages, stored in vast computers and retrieved by individuals to suit their special tastes at their own time and preferences."

Enormous as the potential of TV is for future entertainment, it is not likely to stifle the American love of outdoor recreation — family excursions, boating and other sports, as well as concert- and theater-going. The trend is expected to continue toward large-scale arenas functioning as multifaceted entertainment complexes, using equipment and techniques that now exist only in fantasy.

Scientific training combined with better health will also lead to athletic performances that are seemingly unachievable today, it is believed.

"Somebody will run the dash in nine seconds and there will be a 3:30 minute mile someday," says Jesse Owens, who is widely held to be the greatest track-and-field athlete of all time.

"We should never put a limitation on man. If we had, man would never have gone to the moon."

Today, man is exploring his own anatomy, to learn more about the body and how it can perform better, apply more leverage to achieve more power.

Some futurists see other kinds of pleasure activities developing in addition to those known today. "Future Shock" author Alvin Toffler believes that as the new technology makes new sports possible, we can anticipate the formation of highly varied new play cults.

"Leisure-time pursuits will become an increasingly important basis for differences between people, as the society itself shifts from a work orientation toward greater involvement in leisure," he predicts.

He foresees the formation of sub-cults built around specific activities, holography, mind-control, deep-sea diving, submerging, computer gaming and the like.

most of those rights he was born with—life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

To do otherwise is to ask the nation to live a lie—a sad demand at such a signal moment in our history.

Bad as that might be, there is another body of opinion developing in this country that is even more dangerous.

A number of so-called experts have called into question the value of education on the higher, formal level.

They will tell you that going to college will not automatically guarantee a good-paying job. That is certainly true. But the guarantee of a job is not what true higher education is all about in the first place.

In effect, these experts are telling us that our young people should not emulate their humanity for the sake of a mess of pottage.

They are quick to make the accusation that our society is a mess. It frightens me to think what a real mess we would be in if we seriously listened to their advice.

In conclusion, I would admit that the process of education might well raise more questions than it answers.

To my mind, the task of a good teacher is to raise the right questions.

I have tried to dramatize some of the most important matters of priority facing our country and the state right now. If what I have said has raised some questions in your minds, I am happy, because that is what I have tried to communicate.

These are the citizens who say that the burden of paying for education—and something as valuable as this does not come cheap—should fall upon those less accessible to the press and hardest by the realities of our economy.

When we raise tuition at our institutions of public education, we are hitting hardest at the true backbone of our society—the middle class.

During the 1960s, a number of programs were targeted to open the doors of education for the poor. They are being cut back, which is bad enough.

Even worse, however, is the pressure to make the opportunity for education even less accessible to the young people of the middle class. That is precisely what increases in tuition do.

Even though there are public programs of financial assistance, there is an overwhelming body of statistics which shows clearly that the higher tuitions go, the lower enrollments go.

If anything, we must recast our priorities so as to be able to tell every citizen of this nation that he has the right to make the

Education key to meaning of life, true happiness, responsibilities of liberty

Acting President

at Edwardsville

These remarks try to address a problem on the surface which is very much like situations you face in your lives every day.

For all of us are concerned with communication, especially from the point of view of motivating people.

I ask I examine the problems facing higher education. I discover two things.

First of all, we have been looking back this year on the first ten years of our presence on our beautiful campus at Edwardsville.

From a standpoint, we have been dramatically successful in developing a major resource in higher education for an area that had long been in need of what we have to offer.

Even so, one of the main reasons that we have achieved such growth over the last ten years has been our ability to keep avenues of communication open to the public.

We asked what you wanted. You told us. And we tried to be with institution tailored to a spectacular variety of needs.

But we owe a major part of whatever success we have achieved to the unflagging interest and concern that good citizens have shown. Through mutual communication, we have achieved mutual motivation.

So, on a local level, we have been working hard to intend to do all that I can to keep it working, even better if possible.

But there are certain state and national attitudes that have grown to great enormity over the past few years. There are pieces of real estate, a new piece of real estate, a new piece of real estate.

Certainly, adolescence is a time rich in illusion. How many of us would be very grateful if right now we actually knew half as much as we thought we knew when we were 17 or 18?

The limits of what we realize we know have been somewhat diminished over years of experience. Still, we do feel—rightly, I would say—that the quality of our judgment has grown considerably.

Let us look at the education process in our culture; we find that in ancient Greece, Plato would not even allow a student into his academy until he had mastered the highest levels of mathematics.

Classical curriculums demanded that seven fundamental subjects be mastered before the teachers would concede that the process had even begun.

I am not saying that we must return to ancient practices. But that practice was based upon an insight that has done much to shape more modern approaches to education.

We now see education as a process of very special human growth—special in the sense that it leads to a kind of health that is both happy and contagious.

For decisions based on knowledge and understanding are those we can live with in satisfaction, the kind of satisfaction that endures and leads to permanent happiness.

Such decisions are, indeed, the only truly free ones we make. They are deliberate.

If we examine the Latin root of that word, we find that the core of the word is "liber," which means "free."

In Roman society, in fact, only a certain type of person was deemed worthy—that is, possessed sufficient dignity—to be educated.

He was a young man of the established, aristocratic class, distinguished from other youths who were destined to be servants or, more accurately, slaves.

Ours is a society founded on a richer, nobler commitment. We do not need the Bicentennial to tell us that every American is born with certain unalienable rights—to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

During the 1960s, a number of programs were targeted to open the doors of education for the poor. They are being cut back, which is bad enough.

Even worse, however, is the pressure to make the opportunity for education even less accessible to the young people of the middle class. That is precisely what increases in tuition do.

Even though there are public programs of financial assistance, there is an overwhelming body of statistics which shows clearly that the higher tuitions go, the lower enrollments go.

If anything, we must recast our priorities so as to be able to tell every citizen of this nation that he has the right to make the

Education is the process by which we learn to face and deal with such questions. Without it, we are not as fully alive as we might be. Our liberty is limited and our sense of happiness is reduced to only the most animal levels.

One of the most important and challenging decisions made in this nation during its first 200 years was a response to these serious questions.

It recognized that education was a process by which young

'Unscrupulous hucksters' in student loan program—Percy

Senator Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) today criticized the Office of Education for a "lack of willingness" to correct serious problems in the administration of the $3.8 billion federal student loan program. In a letter to Health, Education and Welfare Secretary David Mathews, Percy criticized Education Commissioner Terrell H. Bell for issuing a "summary dismissal" of proposals for tightening up the loan program, said to be currently plagued by an overall default rate of 25 percent.

The program, under which the federal government guarantees educational loans taken out by needy students, involves about 19,000 schools. Since its inception, it has undervirted more than 3,500,000 loans.

Percy had written Commissioner Bell outlining a series of administrative procedures that he said could be taken to "eliminate many of the abuses in the present loan system." The Illinois Republican's suggestion grew out of hearings on the program held by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, on which Sen. Percy is the ranking minority member.
